

World Food Programme Programme Alimentaire Mondial Programa Mundial de Alimentos برنامج الأغذية العالمي SAVING LIVES CHANGING LIVES

WFP News Video: South Sudan Floods Raise Famine Fears Shot: Sept2019/Dec2019 Pibor, Maban, South Sudan /Rome, Italy TRT: 1:59

SHOTLIST:

:00-:25

Aerial shots of catastrophic flooding in Pibor. Floods since October have overtaken the country following a severe drought is pushing South Sudan and its people towards a precipice as the year ends amid intense political instability.

Pibor, South Sudan Shot: 3Dec19

:25-:53

Impassable roads following floods across the country. While up to 5.5 million South Sudanese are projected to be going hungry in early 2020, the number of people in need is likely to increase because of the catastrophic level of destruction caused by the floods.

Maban, South Sudan Shot: 3Nov2019

:53-1:18

SOT WFP Executive Director David Beasley (English)

"South Sudan is in trouble, serious trouble. Not just because of the conflict but because of the rains and the flooding that has hit in the last few months. It is much worse than we had anticipated. In fact, if we don't get a US$ 100 million in the next few weeks and next few months, we are literally talking about famine in the next few months. We need support; we need help; and we need it now. It is not about WFP. It is about the little boys and little girls and families that we need to save."

Rome, Italy Shot: 6Dec2019

1:18-1:59

WFP Food distributions to displaced families and host communities stranded in remote locations. Families receive cereals, vegetable oil, pulses and salt while malnourished pregnant, nursing mothers and children under five receive nutritional support. WFP reaches a total of 7,000 people in Thaker.

Thaker, South Sudan Shot: 1Oct2019

WFP News Release

12 December 2019

SOUTH SUDAN HUNGER DEEPENS DUE TO DROUGHT, FLOODS AND UNCERTAIN POLITICAL FUTURE

ROME/JUBA – The United Nations World Food Programme (WFP) is in a race against time to mobilize vital funds to feed millions of people in South Sudan as hunger advances on a population in dire need of humanitarian assistance. Catastrophic flooding over recent months is pushing the country and its people towards a precipice as the year ends amid intense political instability.

Up to 5.5 million South Sudanese are projected to be going hungry in early 2020 – according to forecasts from the last food security data prepared by Government and United Nations experts ¹. The number of people in need is likely to increase because of the catastrophic level of destruction caused by floods since October following a drought that hammered parts of the country earlier in the year.

"With all the catastrophes around the world, the last thing we need is another," said WFP Executive Director David Beasley. "We know the problems that we've been having in South Sudan, but the rains and the floods have led to a national disaster and are much worse than anyone could have anticipated."

¹ Integrated Food Security Phase Classification September 2019

"In fact, if we don't get funding in the next few weeks and months, we are literally talking about famine. We need support, we need help and we need it now," he added

Close to 1 million people have been directly affected by flooding that destroyed 73,000 metric tons of potential harvests and wiped out tens of thousands of cattle and goats on which people depend for survival.

Humanitarian assistance provides a lifeline in most areas of South Sudan. In 2019, WFP ramped up its assistance to reach 4.6 million with life-saving support but now needs US$270 million for the first half of 2020. Of this, WFP needs US$100 million in the next month to buy and pre-position food ahead of the rainy season in May 2020.

The Government declared a state of emergency in late October in Bahr El Ghazal, Greater Upper Nile and Greater Equatoria because of the floods, calling for international assistance to be stepped up.

Famine in South Sudan was defeated after four months in 2017 by a concerted large-scale humanitarian response. Experts now say the country's food security outlook has never been so dire.

#

The United Nations World Food Programme - saving lives in emergencies and changing lives for millions through sustainable development. WFP works in more than 80 countries around the world, feeding people caught in conflict and disasters, and laying the foundations for a better future. Follow us on Twitter @wfp_media, wfp_africa and wfp_southsudan

For more information please contact (email address: firstname.lastname@wfp.org):

Tomson Phiri, WFP/Juba, Mob. +211 922 465 247 Peter Smerdon, WFP/Nairobi, Mob. +254 707 722 104 Frances Kennedy, WFP/ Rome, Tel. +39 06 6513 3725, Mob. +39 346 7600 806 Bettina Luescher, WFP/Geneva/Berlin, Mob. +49 160 992 617 30 Jane Howard, WFP/London, Tel. +44 (0) 20 3857 7413, Mob. +44 796 8008 474 Steve Taravella, WFP/Washington, Tel. +1 202 653 1149, Mob. +1 202 770 5993